Daniela Campello is a Professor of Politics and International Affairs at Princeton University. She is also a fellow at the Program on Latin American Studies and the Center for the Study of Democratic Politics at Princeton. She specializes in international and comparative political economy of less developed countries. She received her B.A. from the Universidad Federal do Rio de Janeiro and her Ph.D. from the University of California, Los Angeles. Dr. Campello’s research interests have focused on the politics of international finance with an emphasis on the micro foundations of investors’ political clout. Her current book project focuses on the relevance of developing countries government’s ideology to financial investing and policymaking.

Wednesday, April 21st
5:00 p.m.
Deutz Room
IOA Complex, UCSD

Celebrating 30 Years of Academic Excellence
For more information please visit our website: http://usmex.ucsd.edu