

The Center for Iberian & Latin American Studies
at the University of California, San Diego invites you to this special workshop

Latin American Music in the Classroom

When: Saturday, February 3, 2007 from 8:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Where: Institute of the Americas, University of California, San Diego Campus

Who: Middle School Teachers, High School Teachers, & Spanish TAs

Open to all K-12 Educators & Librarians

It's a Free Workshop!

José-Luis Orozco's workshop demonstrates how music and song can be used to promote oral language development. He will sing traditional Latin American music and discuss its historical component (i.e., corridos and other Latin American music). The goal of this workshop is to introduce educators to Latin American oral traditions and teach them to how to incorporate music into their curriculum.

ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

José-Luis Orozco is an author and recording artist whose work draws upon the rich heritage of the Spanish-speaking world. Through his music José-Luis Orozco has sought to expose a wider audience to Spanish language childhood traditions and promote Latin American culture.

Heidi Feldman is a Lecturer in the Department of Communication. Her research interests include music and social movements in Latin America.

Please RSVP by Friday, January 5, 2007

Music by José-Luis Orozco will be available for purchase

RSVP by e-mail to Ruth Padrón at rpadron@ucsd.edu
Please include your Name, School, & Subject/Grade Level

The workshop has limited enrollment

DRIVING DIRECTIONS: Take 5 North or South to Genesee Ave. exit. Go west on Genesee (towards the ocean). Turn left on North Torrey Pines Rd. Turn left at Pangea Dr. There is a parking garage on the left side. Park there (FREE PARKING). Walk straight up the road (Pangea) past the first stop sign. Take your next left (a small road/fire lane). Walk to the end. On your right you will see the Institute of the Americas Complex (Spanish tile buildings with a water fountain). Check-in at the Weaver Center.

Questions? Please call (858) 534-6050.

Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education
Title VI Grant